Constitutional Changes for NAPSA to include Associate Membership

The National Australian Pharmacy Students' Association (NAPSA) recently made changes to its constitution. The majority of changes were updates to make the document more current, including the objectives of the Association.

The major change included in these changes was the inclusion of a new Membership stream, Associate Membership, available to all members of the pharmacy industry.

Associate Membership with NAPSA costs $50.00 per year and provides the member with four editions of NAPSA's quarterly publication Placebo, four quarterly eNewsletters and invitations to all NAPSA events, including the NAPSA Congress Gala Ball, held each January and the NAPSA AGM Dinner, held each July.

The NAPSA National President, Lisa Goldsmith, stated, "The introduction of Associate Membership will not only add another income stream for NAPSA to allow us to undertake our activities and projects, but more importantly it will also increase awareness of NAPSA amongst Australian pharmacists".

NAPSA Associate Membership was launched at the recent Australian Pharmacy Professional (APP) Conference on the Gold Coast, with a number of pharmacists taking up the offer.
