NAPSA Congress Gold Coast 2010 - Formulating Pharmacy Together

The Griffith University Association of Pharmacy Students (GUAPS) will play host to 250 pharmacy students from around the country this week as we prepare for the eighth annual NAPSA Congress since our reformation in 2001. This will be the first ever NAPSA Congress held on the Gold Coast. The theme for the 2010 Congress reflects the close knit pharmacy community. Delegates will be encouraged, inspired and motivated to get involved in their profession as future Australian pharmacists.

Delegates will be accommodated at Griffith University Village, next to the Griffith University Parklands campus. The social program will show off the best that the Gold Coast has to offer.

The Congress will be officially opened by the NAPSA President, Jacqui Carbines followed by an address from the Head of Pharmacy at Griffith University, Professor Nerida Smith. The educational program features Dr Lisa Nissen, senior lecturer at the School of Pharmacy, University of Queensland and President of the Queensland branch of the Pharmaceutical Society of Australia. Dr Nissen has experience in community, hospital, rural and academic sectors of pharmacy.

Next year's Congress will be hosted by the South Australian Pharmacy Students Association (SAPSA) in Adelaide.
